Important

To help you fill in this form use guidance CH2 Notes, 'Child Benefit - Getting your claim right'. These notes also contain important information that you should read. Please answer all the questions that apply to you, writing clearly in capital letters and send us all the documents we ask for. If you don't, we may need to get in touch with you and this could delay your claim.

If you need more help or information:

- go to www.gov.uk/child-benefit

State Pension

Filling in this form helps to ensure that you are registered to receive National Insurance credits if you have a child under 12 and either look after the child at home or work but don't earn enough to pay National Insurance contributions. These 'credits' can help to protect your State Pension.

The information below only applies to you if your or your partner's individual income is more than £50,000 a year. If it does not apply, please go straight to page 2 and fill in this claim form.

Important change if you or your partner have an individual income of more than £50,000 a year

Since 7 January 2013, if either you or your partner have an individual income of more than £50,000 a year (income from all sources before personal allowances and tax is taken off, less any pension and gift aid contributions), then the partner with the higher income will have to pay a High Income Child Benefit Charge on some, or all, of the Child Benefit you receive.

If these changes apply to you or your partner, you should jointly decide whether to stop getting Child Benefit payments, and not have to pay a tax charge, or continue getting Child Benefit payments and declare them for tax purposes.

Filling in the Child Benefit claim form also ensures that you are registered to receive National Insurance credits which can help to protect your State Pension. It is therefore really important to fill in the form if you have a new child in your family even if you do not want to receive the Child Benefit payments. Part 4 of this claim form lets you tell us if you want to be paid Child Benefit.

1 I have an income between £50,000 and £60,000. Should I still claim and be paid my Child Benefit?

The tax charge applies at a rate of 1% of the Child Benefit paid for every £100 of income over £50,000. If you or your partner have an individual income between £50,000 and £60,000 the tax charge will be less than the total amount of Child Benefit so you might like to keep getting Child Benefit payments and declare them for Income Tax purposes.

2 I have an income of more than £60,000. Should I still claim, even if I don't want to be paid Child Benefit and not pay the tax charge?

If you or your partner have an individual income of more than £60,000, the tax charge will be equal to the total amount of Child Benefit so you might want to stop getting payments and not have to pay a tax charge. But it is really important to fill in the Child Benefit form if you have a new child in your family.

Filling in the Child Benefit claim form ensures you are registered to receive National Insurance credits which can help to protect your State Pension and help your child get their National Insurance number.

For more information, please read the notes with this form or go to www.gov.uk/child-benefit-tax-charge
